You are given a list variable $L$ of items in $0...#L$ (not necessarily all different). Write a program to permute the list so that finally $L'L' = L'$. For each item in the list, one of its occurrences must be at its index position. All the duplicate items can go anywhere else.