A particular computer has a hardware representation for texts of length $n$ characters or less, for some constant $n$. Longer texts must be represented in software as a string of lists of short texts. (The long text represented is the join of the short texts.) A long text is called “packed” if all its items except possibly the last have length $n$. Write a program to pack a string of lists of short texts.