Position Title

Neural Networks and Deep Learning

Qualifications

- Currently enrolled in or completed an undergraduate program in Computer Science, Statistics, Mathematics, or related quantitative field
- Strong academic performance in deep learning coursework (CSC413 or equivalent)
- Demonstrated ability to explain the following neural networks and deep learning concepts clearly to diverse audiences OR prior experience teaching the following concepts: feedforward neural networks, backpropagation, convolutional neural networks (CNNs), recurrent neural networks (RNNs), LSTMs/GRUs, transformers and attention mechanisms, autoencoders, generative adversarial networks (GANs), optimization algorithms (SGD, Adam), regularization techniques, and transfer learning
- Solid foundation in mathematical prerequisites: linear algebra, multivariable calculus, probability theory, and statistics
- Proficiency in Python with extensive experience working in a deep learning framework such as PyTorch, TensorFlow, or Theano.

Relevant Criterion

Previous experience is the more relevant criterion than the need to acquire experience in respect of this posted position.

Duties

All duties are in-person unless otherwise indicated. TA duties may include marking written assignments, programming assignments, term tests, and final exam, leading tutorials, holding office hours, proofreading term tests and the final exam, and answering questions on Piazza. TAs must be available for in-person course team meetings during regular business hours.

This course also requires all TAs to be available to mark the final exam in-person during regular business hours. The final exam date is determined by the Faculty of Arts & Science and may be scheduled between December 10 – 22, 2026. The exam schedule is released in November 2026. Every effort will be made to schedule and complete the exam marking within 5 business days after the final exam date. TAs may be required to complete grading January 6-11, 2027 if the exam is scheduled during the last few days of the exam period. The University is closed for the holiday break between December 24, 2026 – January 5, 2027.
