

CSC290: Run-on Sentences Worksheet

1. The text below has many run-on sentences. Rewrite it so that each sentence presents one idea, and each idea is presented clearly.

Their research, however, could have been improved upon by taking a closer look at individual companies and their specific needs as opposed to lumping all of them as if they are all the same. It makes sense for a large company to have a balanced set of soft skills since there's a lot of other people that people have to talk to, for a small company it might not make so much sense, because smaller companies might care more about people's technical skills so that code gets written.
